

Mobile Application Development Scholarship Program - Gulab Goodness

Introduction

Gulab Goodness announces its Mobile Application Development Scholarship Program designed to offer financial support to students who lack monetary funds for completing a full-time course in the same subject. This scholarship encourages participation from different parts of the world and intends to uplift the underrepresented or underprivileged groups of society.

About

The Mobile Application Development Scholarship Program is designed for students enrolled in the field of mobile application development in countries like USA, Canada, Australia and UK. It is announced every year to promote creative thinking, entrepreneurial development, and offer technological aid to students in the field of mobile development. Students already enrolled in a postgraduate or undergraduate course can apply for this scholarship program.

Benefits

- ◆ We offer a monetary reward to the scholarship winners.
- ◆ The earned amount can be used by the students to sponsor different expenses related to their education like accommodation, stationery, hostel fees, tuition fees, and more.
- ◆ There is no restriction on university or subject selection for the students. However, it is mandatory that students must be associated with an accredited university.
- ◆ Students will earn certification and they can mention the same in their resume to gather a reputed position in one of the leading organizations.
- ◆ It is a golden chance for students from underrepresented groups to support their education without experiencing any financial constraints.

Eligibility Criteria
